About MACE

Mississippi Association of Colleges and Employers (MACE)

MACE is comprised of career service professionals from two and four year colleges and universities and employers who are involved in the recruitment of students for cooperative education and full-time career opportunities. Through the association's professional network, MACE members help bridge education and the work world.

MACE History

In August of 1986, the Mississippi Cooperative Education Association and the Mississippi College Placement Association merged to form one dynamic professional organization, the Mississippi Co-op and Placement Association (MCPA). In July 2000, the Association members voted to change the name to the Mississippi Association for College and Employers (MACE) to reflect changes in the regional and national organizations.

Mission

To build a greater understanding and cooperation between colleges/universities and employers in their combined placement efforts, to foster professional development, and to promote high standards of ethics.

MMeet over 100 co-op and career service professionals and company recruiters in Mississippi.

AAttend the annual conference to learn about current employment trends and practices.

CConnect with people who can assist with recruiting efforts.

EExcel in your position by building a strong professional network in the state
